

The Do's and Don'ts of Electronic Waste Recycling.

Discarded electronics contain hazardous materials and take up limited landfill space. Plus, they contain valuable materials that can be used in new products. So a new state law makes it illegal to throw them in the trash.

Electronics – anything with a plug or battery – should be recycled at one of the locations listed below (and NOT in your curbside recycling bins). And remember, if your electronics still work, consider donating them.

DON'T THROW ITEMS LIKE THESE IN YOUR TRASH OR RECYCLING CONTAINERS:

Computers

Printers

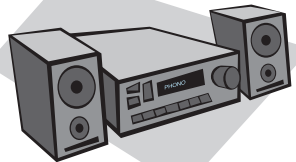

TV's

VCR & DVD Players

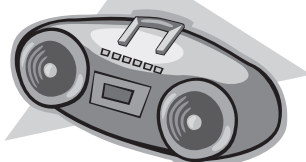

Copiers

Stereos

FAX Machines

Boom Boxes
