ASPHALT

See the firms listed under the Construction and Demolition Debris category on pages 27-28.

ATHLETIC SHOES

Through its Reuse-A-Shoe Program, Nike collects athletic shoes of any kind and any brand and grinds them up. Three types of materials are obtained from this process:

- Nike grind rubber from the outsole is used to make soccer, football, and baseball fields and weight room flooring;
- Nike grind foam from the midsole is used to make synthetic basketball courts, tennis courts, and playground surfacing tiles; and
- Nike grind fluff from the upper portion of the shoes is used as padding under hardwood basketball floors.

This program enables Nike to donate football and soccer fields, playgrounds, running tracks, and basketball and tennis courts in communities around the world.

The following retail stores and recycling centers in southern California participate in Nike's Reuse-A-Shoe Program:

CARPETING

The following firms accept used carpeting from businesses to be recycled:

BASF

Through its "Six Again" program, BASF collects all BASF Nylon Six carpet fiber from businesses and recycles it into new carpet nylon. Call (800) 839-3233 or visit www.BASF.com

Covanta Energy Systems

Crow's Landing
Stanislaus County, California
(727) 517-1011

(This firm accepts used carpeting and burns it to create energy. It will prepare a report stating the number of kilowatts of power that were generated.)

DuPont Carpet Reclamation Program

Under The Environmentalists, The Interior Service Company of INVISTA, formerly known as DuPont Flooring Systems, a comprehensive system exists to remove and replace commercial carpet, regardless of the manufacturer, fiber type, or construction. Every time The Environmentalists removes carpet and installation scraps from a job site, the carpet waste is recycled. At The Environmentalists recycling center, the fiber content and quality are identified and carpets are sorted according to their recycling value. Carpets can then be processed into reusable materials for such products as carpet cushion, sod reinforcement, and automobile parts. There are over 80 locations in the United States and Canada.

For more information, visit: http://theenvironmentalists.com/content/about\_us/dfs01.shtml

Collins and Aikman Floorcoverings

311 Smith Industrial Boulevard
Dalton, Georgia 30721-8661
(706) 259-9711 or (800) 248-2878

Through a program called the Infinity Initiative, this firm collects used carpeting at its Dalton facilities, where it is recycled. Under this process, the firm chops, granulates, and recycles pallets of reclaimed used floor coverings to produce outdoor parking bumpers and industrial flooring. To learn the details of the process, visit the firm's website address: http://www.powerbond.com/env\_commit/recycle.html

Interface Incorporated

Under the Interface ReEntry program, this firm collects carpet tile and broadloom carpet. Reclaimed carpet tile from Interface or Bentley that is in good condition is cleaned and then donated to a community charity. All other vinyl-backed tile is returned to the Interface Flooring Systems facility in LaGrange, Georgia, where it is sorted. The nylon is then recaptured through shearing and sent to the Ford Motor Company, where the backing is ground up and made into new backing.

Broadloom carpet is reclaimed and sent to one of several recycling facilities to be chopped and baled. The material is then processed and converted into raw material to make car parts, carpet padding, and industrial matting. If no other options are available, then the material is converted into energy.

To contact Interface Incorporated, visit http://www.interfaceinc.com/us/services/Reclamation/Tell\_Us

Los Angeles Fiber Company

5190 Santa Fe Avenue
Vernon, CA 90058
(323) 589-5637
(323) 588-0424 fax
www.lafiber.com

This company recycles carpets from businesses into such products as carpet and mattress pads, decorative pillows, plush animals, paper, and wipers.

MarBorg Industries

136 North Quarantina Street
Santa Barbara, CA 93103
(805) 963-1852

MarBorg's program for the collection and recycling of carpeting has currently been suspended due to construction activities being undertaken at its facilities. Please call ahead to determine if the program has resumed.

CELL PHONES

The CellAgain Program helps local, regional, and national organizations, schools, and clubs raise money for their causes by recycling old, broken, or unused cell phones. A group that collects cell phones can earn 100 percent of the value of each phone. CellAgain pays for all shipping charges so groups earn the maximum amount for their fundraising efforts.

CellAgain provides an ACTIVATION KIT that can be requested by telephone, e-mail, or downloaded from the firm's website: www.cellagain.com The following materials are in the ACTIVATION KIT:

- an informational poster to promote the group's fundraiser;
- an informational flyer for distribution;
- receipts for donors' tax records;
- a shipping inventory form;
- an instruction sheet for starting, collecting, shipping, and getting paid; and
- a poster to track the group's progress in reaching its fundraising goal.

For more information, send an e-mail message to info@cellagain.com or call 1 (866) 298-0892 weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. eastern standard time.

 Website address:
<http://www.recellular.net/brochure/contact.asp>; E-Mail address: marketmaker@recellular.com

Recellular, Incorporated buys, sells, and recycles used cell phones, pagers, printer cartridges, PDAs, and other hand held electronics. It also manages the recycling program for the Cellular Telecommunications and Internet Association (CTIA), the wireless industry's national association. Bell Mobility, Sprint PCS, and Verizon Wireless all contract with Recellular to operate their nationwide in-store collection programs.

Through the Donate-A-Phone program developed by CTIA, Recellular pays nonprofit organizations for cell phones that have been collected and can be reused, while it recycles those cell phones deemed obsolete. The amount of payment for each cell phone will be dependent on the currency of the model, age, and condition of each cell phone. Recellular will accept any hand-carried (not vehicle installed) cell phone, as well as battery and charger, if available. Mobile-installed telephones, two way radios, walkie-talkies, and cordless phones for home use are not accepted.

Working cell phones are cleared and reprogrammed. Tax receipt forms may be downloaded for use by the nonprofit organization. If an organization collects 100 or more cell phones, then Recellular will pay for the shipping of the phones to one of its facilities. Further, Recellular handles the sorting, refurbishment, sales, and disposal of all phones collected.

The following locations accept cell phones:

PHARMACEUTICAL WASTE*Proper Disposal of Unwanted Medicines or Pharmaceutical Waste

Traditionally, consumers have thrown unwanted medicines or pharmaceutical waste into their trash containers, have poured them down their sinks, or have flushed them down their toilets. The latter option has historically been recommended by poison control centers to prevent the accidental or purposeful ingestion of inappropriate drugs or dangerously high doses of drugs by those for whom the medication was not intended, particularly children. While this option serves to prevent the immediate accidental exposure or ingestion, it adds to the pollution of the environment through treated wastewater or sludge and therefore, can lead to low-level, chronic human exposure.

Pharmaceutical waste can establish a long-term presence in the environment from its excreted residues that sometimes cannot be removed by sewage treatment or water treatment processes. These residues pose unknown risks to people as well as the environment. Human exposure to trace residues can occur by contact, by ingestion of water, or by ingesting food crops grown on land treated with sludge or irrigated with wastewater.

The two best options for disposing of unwanted medicines are to drop them off at a hazardous waste collection center or your local pharmacy. It is preferable to keep the medicine in its original container so that the center or pharmacy will be able to identify the type of medicine. For privacy purposes, you should remove any personal information from the label (e.g. name, address, and/or telephone number) by scratching out the information or using a permanent marker to cover the information. The following hazardous waste collection centers accept unwanted medicines or pharmaceutical waste from residents only:

SOUTH COAST

Community Hazardous Waste Collection Center

University of California at Santa Barbara (UCSB)

If you contact your local pharmacy, ask if it properly disposes of unwanted medicines through the use of a hazardous waste contractor. Some pharmacies, unfamiliar with hazardous waste regulations, may dispose of the pharmaceuticals by throwing them into a trash container or by pouring them down the sink.

For businesses, Moore Recycling Associates and the American Plastics Council have a free referral service to encourage the recovery of scrap plastics along the West Coast. The Recovered Plastics Market Referral Service allows buyers to connect with suppliers. Among the materials that have been recovered through the service include the following:

- Videotapes, compact discs, empty trash bins, agricultural film, shrink-wrap, polycarbonate water bottles, crates, nylon carpet, clean polystyrene packaging, and other post industrial material.

The service's website, located at www.caplásticosmarkets.com offers the following:

- A database of buyers and suppliers;
- Information on baling and handling procedures; and
- Tips for selling on the export market.
